Here the farmer can meet his friends from a distance and the hnckster who comes from the onlside world with the news or the latent tid-bit of scandal. If he needs matches, a cheap umbrella, thread or cloth, he can get it here, in fact he can buy anything fn. in a pipestem to a bull if he has the money. He tries not to miss market day but assembles in force, succumbs to its seductions, sometimes gets drunk, and may even have a free tight and return home a physical and moral wreck. This is his diversion and is as much to him as a June circus to a farmer at home. Another diversion of the farmer is that of a grave firht. The ancestral graves are scattered all over the adjoining mountains. It is important that these graves should 1 preserved unmolested for they mean much to him--numerous posterity, freedom from trouble, and also good fortune. We Oik told a Korean farmer of the famous Bi ainerd family of the United States, which in 200 years grew to number 30, 000 members, and the first question he asked was, What kind of a grave yard did they have fc-o the Korean farmer has an idea that the very existence of his family depends on his ancestral grave sites and he is in hot water constantly in order to protect them....
